Annual Cost Set At $215,000

By ALEC MERRIMAN

B.C. Power Commission general manager Herbert Lee Briggs yesterday charged that Premier Bennett and his advisers are insisting on a rearrangement of power commission financing which will cost commission customers an extra $215,000 a year.

The man who directs B.C.'s $210,000,000 government-owned power company broke down and cried as he read a prepared press statement in which he said "I will not stand idly by while those charged with the administration of this province prostitute the 80,000 customers of the B.C. Power Commission to fulfil political promises."

ENTIRELY ON OWN

He said his statement was made without the knowledge of the three-man power commission or members of the commission staff. "It is done entirely on my own responsibility," he said.

In his statement Mr. Briggs said: "It is quite obvious the chief objective of the bond rearrangement is to implement a political promise by the present government, namely to 'wipe out all the province's direct debt' by 1960."

PAY UP DEBT

2. That on Sept. 22 at a meeting in the premier's office, attended by Economic Adviser J. V. Fisher, the three power commissioners and himself, the commission was in effect asked by the premier to go through the motions of paying up the $32,000,000 in bonded debt carried in the name of the province.

3. That present bonds carry an average interest rate of 3.1 per cent and proposed interest rates of new bonds would be 3 1/2 per cent and the additional cost of re-arrangement to commission customers would be about $215,000.

PROBE STARTED

4. Resistance to the re-arrangement proposal has been embarrassing to the premier and as a result the premier has instituted an investigation into high costs in construction carried out by the power commission.

5. In July, 1955, and September, 1957, brokers' syndicates were paid $175,000 in fees for Power Commission bonds bought by provincial government agencies. He explained the two issues totalled $40,000,000 and that even though government agencies bought up $16,550,000 of the bonds the brokers' fees were paid on the whole amount of the bond issue.

WANT RESIGN

6. That he will not voluntarily resign, but if he is discharged he will stomp the floors of this province until the next election, "to let the people know the rancid things that go on here in electric power matters which affect most of the people so vitally. But it shall be done without political affiliation."

Mr. Briggs' startling and un-paralleled statement brought instant reaction from some quarters and stony silence from others.

ELECTION SEEN

George Gregory, Victoria Liberal M.L.A., said there should be an immediate provincial general election. "Mr. Briggs' revelation, on top of the Sommers' scandal, truly entitles the voters of B.C. to an immediate opportunity to express their disapproval of this government," he said.

AUDIT SOUGHT

Provincial Liberal leader Arthur Laing called for a "complete independent audit of the entire financial structure of this province."

"At present only Mr. Bennett and Mr. Gunderson are aware of what distortions have taken place," Mr. Gunderson, by his private interests, is now totally disqualified from any further participation in public affairs," Mr. Laing said. "Only unbearable pressure on his integrity and a sense of public responsibility would make Mr. Briggs speak thus. There is obviously a great gulf between the public interest and the political interests of a government that is disintegrating," he said.

BCF leader Robert Strachan said Mr. Briggs' disclosures indicate the Social Credit government is involved in "a grand plan to have the B.C. Electric and Wenner-Gren dominate the economic life of this province... and saddle our people with high-cost power."

"I certainly commend Mr. Briggs for his public-spirited attitude and absolute honesty in releasing the statement. B.C. cannot afford to lose such a man."

Bennett Issues Reply

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett Wednesday night issued a statement by the government's economic adviser which described as "incorrect and grossly misleading" an earlier statement by the general manager of the B.C. Power Commission criticizing government power policies.

But the premier, in a five-minute press conference, refused to make a statement himself.

'VERY SURPRISED'

The premier said he was "very surprised" to see Mr. Briggs' statement, "but I have not been in contact with the three commissioners of the power commission."

He gave reporters a 70-word statement from Dr. J. V. Fisher whom he described as "the government's economic adviser for 40 years, through all administrations." Dr. Fisher flew here from Victoria to consult with the premier.

Mr. Fisher said he had studied Mr. Briggs' statement and "I must state emphatically that... (it) is not only incorrect but grossly misleading."

NO EFFECT

"Financing such as that implied by Mr. Briggs would not, in any event, have any effect whatsoever on the net debt of the province, nor would it create additional annual costs to either the commission or its customers."

Asked whether the government would consider firing Mr. Briggs, the premier walked off saying "I'm sorry boys, that's all."

He said he was returning to Victoria today and that he might make a statement at that time.

What Does Power Cost Now?

Nobody Knows

Project World's Biggest

VANCOUVER — Biggest power project in the world can be realized through a huge earth-filled dam on the Peace River in northeastern B.C., W. C. Mainwaring said here yesterday.

More than 8,000,000 horsepower can be generated in the giant development, he said.

DWARFS OTHERS

The figure dwarfs the 2,645,000 horsepower from the mighty Grand Coulee and the 1,670,000 from massive Hoover dam developments in the United States.

Mr. Mainwaring, newly appointed president of Peace River Power Company Limited, said: "Engineering already completed indicates a dam yielding 4,000,000 horsepower can be built on the Peace River for the same order of costs as a dam yielding only 2,000,000 horsepower near Mica Creek (in southeastern B.C.)."

"Another 4,000,000 horsepower can be developed even more cheaply on the Peace River as a result of the initial dam."

BRING IN MILLIONS

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said the project "will bring thousands of new jobs to the province and millions of dollars in investment capital."

"In time the Peace River area of B.C. will have as large a population as that now held by the entire province."

U.S. Way Must Be Our Way

MONTREAL (CP) — Prof. Edgar McInnis said Wednesday night Canada has no choice but to go along with the U.S. on any major question of foreign policy, even if it leads to war.

"If Canada's interests happen to differ from those of the United States, we can of course try to make our views heard," said the president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

"But if we aren't listened to, all we can do is refuse to go along, and even that only so long as the crisis isn't a major one."

"... If American mistakes in judgment result in a major war, we will be involved."

Wenner-Gren Officials Parry Awkward Quiz

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Directors of the new Peace River Development Company ran into a barrage of awkward questions when they met the press in Vancouver yesterday.

Many of the questions were answered either evasively or with provisos so that nobody was really satisfied.

One of the questions was the average cost of B.C. Electric power in Vancouver.

None of the directors—although they included one director and a former vice-president of B.C. Electric—was able to answer.

W. C. Mainwaring, president of the new company, retired only a few weeks ago as vice-president of B.C. Electric. He excused himself from answering because he was no longer an official of B.C. Electric.

A. Bruce Robertson, who is a vice-president and chief legal officer of B.C. Electric, said, "I don't carry that figure in my head."

The press wanted to know because Mr. Mainwaring in a statement said that power from the Peace could be distributed on the Lower Mainland at least as cheaply as any at present generated in B.C.

Another statement by A. E. Grauer—who was not present—warned the press that from engineering work already done on the Peace, the indication was that the cost delivered to the Lower Mainland should be below that of the B.C. Electric's present average.

Mr. Mainwaring said he was not responsible for what Mr. Grauer said.

Mr. Mainwaring was next put on the grill when asked if the power from the Peace would be as low cost as that from Mica Creek on the Columbia.

Frondizi Quashes Revolt

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Arturo Frondizi, with a show of armed force, quashed a coup Wednesday night.

Officials said the attempt to unseat Frondizi was led by Vice-President Alejandro Gomez.

Gomez denied it but apparently will be thrown out if Frondizi weathers a continuing crisis. Frondizi still faced a major test of strength with powerful politico-labor forces.

A threatened strike of oil workers posed the persistent menace to his six-month administration.

Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, who also is acting defence minister, assured Frondizi the army was sticking by the government.

Vitolo also announced that all ministers pledged their support to the president in a cabinet meeting late Wednesday night.

'Feeling of Despair'

Refunding Final Straw To Briggs?

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

H. L. Briggs' dramatic criticism of the B.C. government in asking the B.C. Power Commission to refund $32,000,000 it owes to the government, is not perhaps in itself a major matter.

It is one which an organization like the commission should be able to absorb, if that was all.

However, there is a body of opinion that the refunding may be the final straw that has broken the back of Mr. Briggs, general manager of the commission.

STRONG FEELING

Certainly Mr. Briggs must have felt extremely strongly about it to accuse the government of "prostituting the interests" of 80,000 customers.

A highly regarded man in his profession, Mr. Briggs made his exposure when obviously he had everything to lose and little to save, except perhaps his conscience.

Inside the power commission, and this is not confined to the top echelon, there is a feeling of despair that the present government is not sympathetic.

VIEW BACKED

There is the feeling that Mr. Bennett's government favors private enterprise in power, and numerous deals are noted to support that view.

One of these was the exchange of the Clowholm plant—now supplying Powell-River—for a few miles of transmission line on Vancouver Island. This cost the power commission a fast-growing area that might have been extremely useful to it in the future.

Another factor which must have weighed hard on Mr. Briggs' mind was the attitude of the premier to the commission's plea that if the extra expense of refunding had to be incurred the commission would be in danger of going into the red.

NO RATE BOOST

Mr. Bennett is understood to have told the commission that he could not allow them to slow down their rate of rural electrification, nor could he allow them to raise their rates.

One BCPC official said recently the government was in the process of slowly strangling the commission, and was sacrificing it to the B.C. Electric and the Peace River Development Company.

Springhill Closure 'Knockout'

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — A Dominion Coal Company statement Wednesday night said all mines in this hard luck town will be closed. "It's a knockout blow," said Mayor Ralph Gilroy. The company said the mines were too dangerous.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

PORT CLEMENTS, Queen Charlotte Islands—Driving at night down the twisty, forest-girt road from Massett to here, one is startled to come upon an oil-rig blazing with lights.

Drilling goes on 24 hours a day. The rig with its attendant testing engineers, trucking crews and "roughnecks" (as drilling hands are called) costs plenty of money even if it doesn't run, and if the operators let it stand idle, they would be throwing away a small fortune.

So the machinery rumbles and clanks day and night, and the rig glows like a Christmas tree against the dark forest.

The wells which Cascade Drilling Co. is drilling in the Queen Charlottes for Richfield Oil Co. are strictly exploratory. At this stage nobody expects to hit anything. Drillers are just trying to find what sort of rocks are down there, and at what depths.

Later wells may be sunk in the hope of finding oil in certain places.

In the trailer-bunkhouses I met some of the off-duty crews, a cheerful crowd of Alberta men who lounged about exchanging banter and reading nine-day-old copies of Edmonton and Calgary newspapers.

The presence of the oil crews has enlivened the pleasantly drowsy atmosphere of the island communities.

In the cookhouse trailer I met Mr. and Mrs. Earl Young, formerly of Harriet Bay, Quadra Island. They are a husband-and-wife cooking team. They told me they had been only five miles away from the Ripple Rock blast, and had found it disappointingly mild.

On the road from the well to Port Clements, fat little deer leaped out of the shadows now and then and raced across the headlight beams.

Now we are in Port Clements, guests of that kindly, outspoken Scots couple, Adam and Bessie Pyper, at the Port Clements Hotel.

This easy-going hamlet of some 100 people is the most westerly port in Canada. It has a good dock on Massett Inlet, which is a sizable inland sea. Freight and passenger boats no longer call here, but fishing vessels move back and forth at times between here and Massett.

Until last summer the only transportation between the two towns was by water. Now the road is through, and this is the mid-point on the journey south to Queen Charlotte City. Most travellers drop in for a beer on the way through, and quite a number of people drive down here especially to pick up a few cases, because there is no liquor store or tavern north of here.

Port Clements is probably the most comfortable location on the islands; peaceful and fairly sheltered, yet accessible by land and water.

Until recently the atmosphere was one of gentle decay. The population was—and still is—composed largely of retired folk. Many of the grey, weatherbeaten buildings has a list to port or starboard.

But a small current of new life is stirring through the town. The local public works headquarters is now here. Oil drilling crews are not many miles away. A road is being built here from the big logging camp of Juskatla.

There isn't a vacant house now in old Port Clements. Once there were great hopes for the town and surrounding area. Some 2,000 settlers gathered about here. But they were defeated by the sour musk and the impossibility of transporting and selling crops.

Those dreams have been forgotten, but there may be a revival of prosperity on a more modest scale.

I noticed two new log houses in the town, one built, the other under construction. There are no sawmills of any size on the islands, and it is actually cheaper to build houses of logs. Personally I like log houses better, too.

Greater Victorians turned out by the hundreds on Remembrance Day to honor their war dead despite the record rainfall.

More than 1,000 persons attended the main gathering at the Victoria Cenotaph at the legislative buildings; 400 at Esquimalt's Memorial Park; 150 at Oak Bay's Uplands Park, and 75 at the Saanich Memorial Gore.

A parade made up of both civilians and servicemen marched past the Empress Hotel where Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross took the salute.

At Beacon Hill Park, a plaque honoring B.C. Indians who served in the two world wars was unveiled at the base of the tallest totem pole.

Caroline Charles placed a wreath on behalf of the Songhees Indian Reserve, which was also represented by war veteran Frank George.

Robert Clifton of Courtenay, president of the Native Brotherhood of B.C., performed the unveiling. Lt.-Col. Gilbert Howland represented the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society which presented the bronze memorial plaque.

"We have become accustomed to questionable and unethical practices in British Columbia, but never before in Canada has the head of a Crown corporation been driven to such a pointed and serious attack upon a government leader. If Mr. Briggs' statement is a true statement of facts, and I am inclined to believe that it is, Mr. Bennett is not fit to remain at the head of the government."

LONELY PATH
"I believe that Mr. Briggs has chosen a lonely and solitary path because he has thrown down the gauntlet in the face of a dominant political figure. Even though he is obviously a Christian he deserves the assurance from the public that they will stand beside him if he is able to prove his charges."

In Vancouver T. H. Conchy, chairman of the commission, said he had not seen Mr. Briggs' statement and declined comment.

CLOSED MEETING
In Victoria, after releasing his statement, Mr. Briggs appeared before the other two commission members, H. J. MacLeod and H. H. Griffin, but the meeting was behind closed doors and commission members later said "no comment."

Mr. Briggs went about his business as usual yesterday afternoon and met with engineers of H. G. Acres and Co., who have been major contractors for the BCPC.

COMPLETE SURPRISE
His statement yesterday came as a complete surprise. Reporters were told Tuesday night that something big was afoot. They assembled at the Empress Hotel coffee bar at 8:30 a.m. and from there were taken to the power commission building where they were ushered in a side door adjacent to Mr. Briggs' office.

Mr. Briggs was waiting with his prepared statement. It was obvious he was under considerable duress as he spoke slowly and firmly. There was no doubt he had given considerable thought before making the announcement.

LIFE'S WORK
It was obvious he realized he was putting his life's work on the block.

He was appointed general manager of the BCPC on Feb. 1, 1955, a post recommended by the royal commission investigating the Whatshan slide, which resulted in the resignation of the power commissioners at that time.

COMPANY GROWS
Under Mr. Briggs' direction the publicly-owned utility has grown from a $70,000,000 operation serving 55,000 customers to a $210,000,000 operation serving 80,000 customers.

He was appointed to his present position after a continent-wide search and came to British Columbia from Winnipeg where he was general manager of the city of Winnipeg Hydro-Electric System.

ADVISORY GROUP
In addition to his engineering work in Winnipeg, Mr. Briggs was a member of the advisory group to Winnipeg's civic finance committee which was charged with implementing tion of basic changes in the city's business administration. "I have no political ambitions whatsoever. I do not propose to run for public office. My whole working life has been in the engineering and the management of public utilities, and I ask for nothing better than to have it remain that way," he said yesterday.

NOT DIRECT DEBT
The $32,000,000 referred to by Mr. Briggs in his statement is not shown in the provincial budget as a direct debt, but it is a self-imposed debt.

red on behalf of and repayable by the British Columbia Power Commission. It represents the balance owing to the province for advances received during the period from 1945 to 1952 and repayment is being made by annual installments which, it is calculated, will discharge the liability in full by 1958.

"In the early years of the power commission (1945 to 1952) its permanent capital funds were provided by the sale of bond issues standing in the name of the province. By orders-in-council the then governments assigned both the proceeds and obligations of these issues to the power commission," Mr. Briggs said. "They made the power commission wholly responsible for all interest charges and for all sinking fund installments such as would provide completely for eventual repayment, he said."

"When the premier and his advisers propose and continue to insist with increasing pressure that this permanent financing be almost totally rearranged, and thereby impose large extra annual and total costs which can only be paid for by each and every one of the commission's customers, it is indeed time that these people be made fully aware of the circumstances. These people will then pass their own judgment on what is right and what is wrong," he continued.

Mr. Briggs said the $32,000,000 in bonded debt carried an average interest rate of 3.1 per cent, whereas the current market rate for new issues of similar character is 5.1 per cent.

MUST CHOOSE
"It was proposed to the commission (at the Sept. 22 meeting) that it must select between (a) re-borrowing in the open market at current rates of interest or (b) re-issuing a new series of 4 per cent bonds, to be taken up by other sinking and trust funds of other governmental agencies as their funds become available," he said.

"Although the power commission is to be pushed into higher costs for its customers to carry, there is to be no change in the status of the original bonds, either as to ownership or as to their rate of interest.

PLAN OUTLINED
"The scheme is to turn over now to the sinking fund trustees, the equivalent value of all future sinking fund payments so that these, together with the interest earnings thereon, will be sufficient to provide for all future interest charges (still at 3.1 per cent) and in addition, discharge fully the original obligations when they come due at the normal time," he said.

"Some observers said yesterday it is believed the government needs the $32,000,000 because sales tax revenues are down, mainly because of a drop in the heavy construction industry."

OBLIGATION CHARGES
"Thus, the direct obligation of the province for these bonds would be transferred on a fully paid-up basis to the sinking fund trustees. The direct obligations of the province would in effect be extinguished now," Mr. Briggs said.

Nobody Seems to Know What Power Costs Now

"I cannot answer that because nobody knows how much the U.S. will pay for downstream benefits from that project," he said.

Most of the technical questions were answered by Ralph Chantrell, British consulting engineer who has done most of the current survey work on the Peace.

He was satisfied the Peace would supply low-cost power to the Lower Mainland.

But he added that everything was very much in the speculative stage.

Bernard Gore, deputy chairman of Peace River Development and Wenner-Gren's head man in B.C., said the new company was interested only in the hydro project.

"It has nothing to do with other aspects of the Wenner-Gren plan," he said.

He said construction on the project could begin in 1960 and power might be available by 1965.

The first dam would be in the area between Finlay Forks and Hudson Hope, but two sites were under consideration.

Mr. Gore said the Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company was living up to all its undertakings with the B.C. government.

Apart from the power project, it was working on the plans for a railway, "not necessarily a monorail," and he expected that if the timber resources proved adequate, that a pulp mill would be put into construction by 1961.

Mr. Gore said the Wenner-Gren interests would have financial control over the new power company although it would not have a majority on the board of directors.

Those taking part in the forthcoming engineering studies are Power Securities Corporation Ltd. and Associated Electrical Industries, two leading British companies; B.C. Electric; Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company, and a fifth party which it is hoped will be the B.C. Power Commission.

The B.C. Power Commission is as yet unable to provide a share of the funds required for the engineering report because it would need a special act of the legislature to permit such a step. Such an act is expected.

The Broadcasting Setup

ONE may expect that the changes foreshadowed in the new broadcasting setup will come into being soon, now that the personnel of the new boards has been announced. Regulatory authority is vested in a Board of Broadcast Governors; with a university president, Dr. Andrew Stewart, as full-time chairman. Since the last CBC chief, Mr. A. Davidson Dunton, retired from broadcasting to become a university president this represents an interesting exchange of vocation. The present general manager of the CBC, Mr. J. Alphonse Ouimet, will move up in that organization as president.

Both boards seem over large for their purpose, 15 members for the BBG and 11 for the CBC, but as customarily they include widespread provincial representation, and both seem replete with nominees of varying knowledge and experience. If given the requisite free hand they should be able to direct broadcasting with renewed vigor and emphasis.

Chief interest of course centres on the division of authority now created. It will be up to the BBG to direct the over-all broadcasting of Canada, making the rules for private stations and for the CBC both. Herein is the important change to be effected by the BBG, in contrast to the former situation which gave the CBC power to control both its own and rival private stations. The CBC, although now confined, will have enough to do to maintain the special cachet needful to a national network designed to safeguard the Canadian ethos and way of life. A crucial aspect of CBC operations of course is its future financial structure since the taxpayer foots its expenditures, and early information on this point will be expected.

In announcing the personnel of the boards Revenue Minister Nowlan said there would be no quick changes in basic government policy. What this means is not clear, unless he is referring to the government's CBC financial obligations. It will be for the BBG, surely, to create the policies to be followed. That is why it was brought into being, to give broadcasting as a whole a new deal. If it is to work under restrictive limits its value will be impaired from the start.

Fringe Benefits Are Costly

ALTHOUGH fringe benefits have long been established as a factor in almost all wage agreements they are often overlooked, and interest in disputes between unions and management usually is concentrated on the amount or percentage of the increase sought in hourly rates. It is customary for statements issued to the public to refer to demands for wage increases of so much an hour plus certain fringe benefits, either not specified or only sketchily described in such a way as to create the impression that they are unimportant.

Yet often these additional benefits add more to the cost of production than the increase in hourly rates. Just how high their cost can be is strikingly disclosed in a report recently made by the United States Chamber of Commerce. Covering settlements made by 1,012 firms in the United States last year, the report shows that fringe benefits granted over and above pay increases averaged 47.4 cents per payroll hour, or $981 per employee per annum. On average these benefits represented 21.8 per cent of the payroll. In other words, 21.8 per cent of the average employee dollar was for payments not shown as wages.

These "non-wage" payments are not reflected in wage statistics, so that figures purporting to show the average industrial wage of any particular region or industry are misleading. Since non-wage payments, like higher wages, must in the end be paid by the consumer they form a significant part of the price-tag of consumer goods. In many instances also fringe benefits entail additional bookkeeping and thereby add to the employers' costs of administration.

Non-wage benefits have become so deeply rooted in the labor system of North America that they are largely taken for granted and receive scant attention. Yet they are a substantial factor in the prices the public must pay for goods and services.

Service Counts

PAINSTAKING and earnest service in the city's interest surely is not to be measured by the number of times an alderman attends meetings of the city council or one or other of its committees. If that were so a full attendance record would be synonymous with the most able service, while often it is not. Effective weight in civic affairs is not a matter of the hours endured in meetings, but the net contribution offered in the creation and implementing of policies which will prove effective. For that reason we would like to see Alderman Arthur Dowell reconsider any decision to leave the city council on the ground that he has planned an overdue vacation in his life.

The same point would apply to any alderman whose service had been of comparable weight. There are times when a vacation is the best of all medicines, and a desire to serve the community should not lose out solely on the consideration of a probable brief absence. In this instance, Alderman Dowell has said that he plans to take a trip to the Far East early next year. Having said so, however, he has apprised the electors of that fact with commendable frankness. One of the senior members of the present city council, who is acquainted with Victoria's situation and policies, Alderman Dowell is no doubt of more value to that body for his knowledge and acumen than for any attendance record.

Victoria City is at the point where experienced members on the policy-making body are worth more than three times their weight in tyros, no matter how in earnest and willing to serve. The City has begun definite discussions with Saanich on a joint study of the issue of amalgamation. Its financial and departmental affairs are in good order, and the city manager setup is working well. One can understand the diffidence of Alderman Dowell in view of his intended vacation, but would it not be as well to allow the electors to decide the point? An experienced alderman with full service to offer in the balance of the year is not likely to find citizens opposed to any man having a needed vacation.

Interpreting the News

NATO's Future Is Debated

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE North Atlantic Treaty Organization, approaching its 10th birthday, hasn't made up its mind yet what it would like to be when it grows up. Several of its uncles and godfathers are offering unsolicited and conflicting advice.

NATO's latest homilies have come from Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, who wants it to take up a full-time military career; and from France's Premier de Gaulle, who would like to see it go into politics.

Up to now, the organization has done a little of both, and has dabbled to a lesser extent in science and economics. Montgomery, in particular, feels it is high time it settled down and learned a little soldierly discipline.

The forthright field marshal, in stepping down as NATO's deputy supreme commander, was clearly concerned with the organization's task of defending Western Europe when he labelled it "complicated, cumbersome and grossly overstuffed."

He is characteristically impatient with NATO's political wrangles and is uninterested in discussions about trade, or scientific co-operation on the non-military level.

De Gaulle, on the other hand, sees NATO as a kind of exclusive United Nations, with the Soviet bloc and other "awkward" members excluded, in which France should play a prominent role.

Insofar as its membership consists of 15 independent countries with interests that frequently conflict, NATO is an imperfect instrument of policy in any sphere.

Its immediate reason for existence is their common desire to protect Western Europe from military aggression. Insofar as Communist expansion has been successfully halted at its borders, that objective has been successfully achieved.

But there is a wide divergence of views on how the organization should go on achieving it. The Scandinavian powers are sharply at variance with the United States on the role of nuclear weapons in future defence plans. The U.S. and Britain are unenthusiastic about France's plan to develop its own H-bomb.

"How about this: Will you agree to admit inspectors if they don't bring in any books?"

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE evidence may seem to be to the contrary but I am inclined to the conviction that columnists, like authors, although authors are sometimes exposed by their publishers—would be wise to keep their likenesses out of sight. The advantage of photographic obscurity, of course, is obvious.

For one thing the columnist, assuming that his typewriter does not betray him—which in time it tends to do—can benefit from the mystery of the unknown. He can, perhaps, create a reputation for wit or wisdom that derives in the main from being invisible. A voice unencumbered by a face has a certain mystique about it, as radio listeners know quite well. A shaft from the dark, as it were, is intriguing.

Dispel this mystery and the pundit is laid bare, as I feel sure many a columnist has found out. Faces being frequently what they are there is an open invitation in such exposure for someone to mutter: "How dreadful! That man cannot possibly say what he purports to say. He must have a (better looking) ghost writer."

I have met with this reaction myself sometimes, not precisely in these terms, perhaps, but in a way apt to leave me wondering. On occasion when I am introduced someone will remark "Oh yes, I see your face every morning," and I am never quite sure what is meant.

So much can be implied with so little inflexion.

Reading this you might with warrant ask, "Why then do you adorn your column with a picture," to which all I could reply would be that columnists, like ladies and their hemlines, are the slaves of fashion. It is the fashion to have a small likeness reproduced at the head of one's morning causerie.

And the law is of the Medes and Persians.

Unlike ladies' hemlines, however, a columnist's face stays put. That is to say he is like a fictional detective, he never grows old. The years may come and go, his views may change or contradict each other, but his face remains the same forever. Or nearly so.

It would be better, perhaps, were it otherwise.

The shock to one's readers when at length the masque cannot be retained longer, can be devastating. Indeed this thought appals me, although I run no immediate risk (I hope) of a forced photographic transmigration.

Not long ago a popular New York columnist underwent such a transformation, undoubtedly compelling a reader reaction that would last at least for a 24-hour period. For a number of years he had displayed himself as but slightly bald and wholly clean-shaven. Suddenly—and without warning he appeared as he really is, wholly bald, wholly bearded, and much older.

Happier he would be, surely, had he never showed his picture at all.

You see, therefore, the fate that awaits all those likenesses at the heads of columns. If I were to be frank also I would have to admit that what you see at the top of this piece was taken six or seven years ago, although in defence of my duplicity I offer the assurance of friends who affirm: "But in reality you look younger."

But they, alas, are my friends.

Reports from Ottawa

JOHN Diefenbaker's luck still holds.

The prime minister has just had a new hand dealt to him in the Ottawa-Washington poker game, and it looks good. But his winnings will depend on how well he plays it.

The American people dealt the hand quite unwittingly in electing an overwhelmingly Democratic Congress and in retiring a number of senators and congressmen whose attitudes on trade, tariffs and foreign policies were considered by Ottawa to endanger Canada's interests.

For a week now the pundits have been analyzing the possible impact of these political changes on the main issues of Canadian-American relations: trade, tariffs, Columbia power, Red China and all the rest. But the question is, what will Diefenbaker do to capitalize on these political changes? For if Canadian-American problems are to be resolved, it is not enough merely to view the election results with satisfaction and wait with hope.

Most of the pundits I've read have dwelt on the resurgence of the Democratic Party, with principles and philosophy more akin to Canadian Liberalism and Diefenbaker-brand conservatism than those of Republican right-wingers who, under Vice-President Nixon's leadership, threaten to gain control of the GOP after Eisenhower.

This is important. But what these Monday morning political quarterbacks overlook almost unanimously is the importance of the fact that in this Congress, a Congress which will be asserting its Democratic will over that of a Republican president, there are 61 Democrats who were not members of the last Congress. Most of them are newcomers to Congress, and presumably know little or nothing about their country's relations with its northern neighbor.

It is to Canada's great interest that they learn about these problems, as quickly as possible, and that they hear the Canadian side of matters in dispute as well as the American side.

It is fortunate that at a time when the need arises for a major effort at congressional education, wheels are already in motion to form a joint parliamentary-congressional committee on Canadian-American relations.

But in the Congress, membership on foreign affairs committees is a prize not usually awarded to freshmen legislators. The eight American members of this joint committee are almost certain to be veterans of the Congress.

This situation points to the need for some supplementary approach. Recently I suggested the possibility of Canadian industry maintaining a lobby in Washington to press on Congressmen the Canadian view on economic matters, especially trade. To that could be coupled the social approach—embassy receptions and dinners, and encouragement of members of the Congress to visit Canada.

Basic to all this, however, should be the distribution of a brochure—or better still, a series of fact-papers—explaining clearly and succinctly the problems that vex Canadian-American relations. Not propaganda; just facts, put before the people who in a very few years and perhaps with a Democratic president will be making major decisions affecting Canadian-American relations.

Quite frankly, this is just elementary public relations practice. But it is time to put PR to work for better IR—that is, international relations.

The 'Packsack

of GREGORY CLARK

ONE of the strangest things I ever heard said was by a man in his fifties speaking to his wife in the lobby of the public library.

I was walking a pace or two behind him. He placed his arm around his wife's shoulders and said: "Mary, I love you, and I like you!"

At which moment, he detected me gum-shoeing behind him.

We three collected our hats and coats at the check room and I held the door open for them as we departed.

The man, with an embarrassed grin on his face, took my arm as we descended the library steps. "I'm afraid," he said, "you overheard my remark to my wife. I think I should explain myself. We have been married thirty years and have had, I think, an exceptionally happy life. We have not only been in love, but we have been great friends all our life. What I mean is, if we weren't in love, if we weren't married, we would still be great friends. Does that make sense?"

"It certainly does," I admitted. "Excuse me, what were you doing in the library?"

"Solving a point we have been arguing about all week," replied the wife.

I knew by the way she tossed her head that she had won.

With the Classics

Near yonder copse, where once the garden smiled,
And still many a garden flower grows wild,
There, where a few torn shrubs the place disclose,
The village preacher's modest mansion rose.
A man he was to all the country dear,
And passing rich with forty pounds a year;

Remote from town he ran his godly race,
Nor e'er had changed, nor wished to change his place;
Unpractised he to fawn, or seek for power,
By doctrines fashioned to the varying hour;
Far other aims his heart had learned to prize,
More skilled to raise the wretched than to rise.
—OLIVER GOLDSMITH

'Modern' Republicans

By DAVID LAWRENCE

THE late president Franklin D. Roosevelt used to say that congressional elections—when presidential candidates are not running—are essentially "local." He meant that differing personalities and local issues determine the outcome.

But the significant news of the election is what happened between two factions of the Republican Party and what this may mean for 1960.

Already the claim is being widely made that "modern Republicanism" won and conservatism lost. It doesn't explain the defeat of ever so many "modern Republican nominees for Congress."

President Eisenhower says the "spenders" in the Democratic Party won. "Modern Republicanism" may be understood by some observers to mean only a middle-of-the-road philosophy, but to many Conservatives it means "new dealism," excessive spending, and federal control of almost everything that has been local before, and a surrender to the labor union bosses on the "right to work" issue as voiced during the last campaign by Secretary of Labor Mitchell of the Eisenhower cabinet.

This is too early to make a prediction for 1960, but, as sure as day follows night, if the Republican Party advertises its nominee as a "modern Republican" next time, it will increase the stay-at-home Republican vote, and surely elect the Democratic presidential nominee.

This correspondent has received many thousands of letters during the last two years from conservative Republicans. The refrain of the dissenters is the same: "I'm fed up with 'modern' stuff, which to me means radicalism and bankruptcy. If I want a radical, I'll vote Democratic (or else I'll stay at home on election day)."

The idea that the Republican Party can win an election by alienating the biggest single bloc of votes within its ranks is fallacious. On the editorial page of The Wall Street Journal appeared the two following comments on last week's election: "If the Democrats have a mandate it is indeed an elusive one. Instead the inescapable conclusion is that the Democrats didn't win the election. The Republicans committed suicide..."

"We don't know whether the Republican Party can recapture its sense of purpose. But we are pretty sure that if it doesn't, then the Republican nomination in 1960 will be completely worthless for Mr. Nixon, Mr. Rockefeller, or anyone else."

This is but another way of saying that harmony and teamwork are essential to the success of a major party which has been defeated at the polls, and that there must be an agreement to support the fundamental principles that have built up the workingman's dollar and his freedoms. "Me-tooism"—that is, attempting to imitate the other party—doesn't win enough independent or "switch" votes to offset the losses within one's own ranks.

Nelson Rockefeller has a big future in American politics. He has the warmth of personality and fairness of an Eisenhower. But the governor-elect was ill-advised when he disassociated himself from the national administration during his campaign. He would have won anyhow, even if he had discussed national issues. Now he is faced with the handicap that conservatives throughout the nation will suspect him of being a "modern Republican," which to conservatives is like waving a red flag at a bull. Nelson Rockefeller is being already heralded in the press as anti-Nixon, which is a further way to alienate conservatives in the Republican Party. For Vice-President Nixon has shown himself to be an Eisenhower Republican who knows how to win conservatives to his side.

There's one thing many persons who are newcomers in politics do not understand, and that's the depth of feeling on historic issues. Conservatism cannot be dismissed as obsolete. For if the dollar is forced downward from fifty cents to a quarter, voters who have fixed incomes will be threatened with real suffering. They will express their protest at the polls against the "spenders" whose slogan in New Deal Days was, "we shall tax and tax, spend and spend, and elect and elect." It never cured the big unemployment of the depression.

Mr. Eisenhower was right in announcing his firm adherence to conservative doctrine on the "spending" issue. That is the way to begin to win back the millions of Republican voters who helped to commit "political suicide" by staying away from the polls. It's the way to get the support of those "unmodern" Democrats who have stood up against their spendthrift brethren from the north. The budget is unbalanced by $12,000,000,000. Will more spending ever balance it? To go broke in government isn't "modern"—it's as old as the debacles of ancient Rome.

Sunday Law Discriminatory

I am writing about the Lord's Day Act and the recent statement concerning it released by the Victoria Ministerial Association. Certainly there is a need for humanitarian legislation, and the Lord's Day Act may concern itself with humanitarianism. However, regardless of what may be said in its defence, the Lord's Day Act is primarily a religious act.

The very name "Lord's Day Act" designates it as belonging in the realm of religious legislation. The warmest supporters of this act across Canada are clergymen, and although I'm sure they are interested in the betterment of mankind along social lines, it is from a religious viewpoint that they are most concerned with the Lord's Day Act.

Besides being a religious law, I believe it is also a discriminatory one. Across Canada there are several thousand citizens who conscientiously observe another day than Sunday. However, the Lord's Day Act in most cases prevents them from making a living on the same basis as other citizens in this country. Should they attempt to run their business or do their work on a six-day week basis which would include Sunday, they would be accused of breaking the Lord's Day Act, although they have already observed a day of worship.

Religious laws are generally discriminatory. They seek to impose the will of majorities upon minorities, rather than letting each individual worship God as his conscience dictates.

One Dollar Each

It is very gratifying to note how quick Victorians were to respond to the Springhill mine disaster, by generously donating money to aid the victims.

Unfortunately, there appear to be many individuals and business firms in Victoria who choose to ignore the hundreds of small disasters that occur annually in our own city by failing to give adequately or not at all to our Community Chest.

As has so often happened in the past, the Chest drive is just short of its goal, but enough to hamper the many curative and preventative agencies in their work next year.

I believe that if everyone who reads this were to send only $1 each to the Community Chest, the drive would go over the top.

Exorbitant Cost

I do not think that a downtown parking mall is the answer to the parking problem, nor is a trucking route alongside the Causeway necessary. Victoria must progress with the times, but in a careful and reasonable manner. Firstly, a four-lane high level bridge across the bay from the ex-Indian reserve to the vicinity of Laurel Point, which would give direct rail connection with the docks at Ogden Point and allow passage of all heavy trucking now using the Government Street route.

The present trend is to build out-of-town shopping centres. In time, this will lessen the number of autos coming into the city, and many firms will be moving their locations out to these shopping centres, thereby leaving many vacant stores in the city.

Further, it is preposterous to ever consider building a mall at such an exorbitant cost just to accommodate a mere 350 autos.

Price Factors

Certain correspondents are insisting that wages are the cause of high prices. What they fail to see is that the price of any commodity does not depend on the amount of wages paid but on the cost of the quantity of the labor time necessary for the production of any given commodity. While wages are a factor in all cost, there are several others such as the cost of raw material which has increased considerably in the last five years; also capital tating a much greater sum of money annually, not only for the depreciation of the machinery but also to meet the interest charges on this increased capital; also there are taxes and advertising to be paid, which is quite a sum these days; and finally the merchants' mark-up, i.e., profit, which is all the trade will bear.

Other factors which must be taken into consideration are the law of supply and demand and the depreciation of the dollar which is worth only 50 cents or less today. Only by taking into consideration all these factors will we ever get a clear understanding of the cause for rising prices.

They Ask for More

A short time ago the B.C. shipyard unions were begging and pleading with Ottawa and others to provide more work to halt shipyard unemployment.

The last destroyer built on this coast cost the taxpayers of Canada $21,000,000, whereas exactly the same ship was built on the east coast for $17,000,000.

In the present wage dispute, the conciliation officer has granted a small increase of six per cent even though the shipyard management feel they cannot grant any increase, their costs already being too high. The union has turned this down and demands 12 1/2 per cent, plus other contract changes.

Eastern shipyard wages are already 30 per cent less than here which just about accounts for the $4,000,000 difference in the cost of a destroyer; and yet with men being laid off due to lack of work and high costs the B.C. unions ask for more.

Danger to All

Your editorial regarding the effort to have the speed limit increased will have the approval of the majority of citizens. Few of us have any desire to go racing around the country at such speeds.

What is more, we do not wish this privilege to be granted to other motorists. If these speed-hungry drivers endangered only their own lives, we would say, "Go to it, brother; sign your own death warrant." But they do not; they endanger the lives of all who use the roads.

Advocates of this increase seem to think that because they have cars capable of travelling at such speeds, they should be allowed to do so. They ignore all the statistics which now show conclusively that speed is the major cause of death and serious injury on our highways. Despite our marvellous new cars, we human beings are stuck with the same old vulnerable flesh-and-blood bodies that we had in the horse-and-buggy days.

As for the weak-kneed argument that the speed limit should be increased because some break it, one might as well argue that we should abolish the Criminal Code because crimes are still being committed.

Still Another Championship Team

Victoria High School Keeps Colonist Cup for Fifth Year

Victoria High School senior soccer club, its one-two punch of Barry Sadler and Robin Barnes once again performing brilliantly, won the Colonist Cup and the city high school championship for the fifth straight time yesterday with a 7-2 victory over Oak Bay.

Yesterday's match was the second of a best of three series. Vic High won the opener, 3-1. He scored three goals and now needs the mainland winner in defence of its provincial title.

Sadler, who missed last year's Colonist Cup final through an injury after starting in regular season play, was probably the outstanding player of the 1958 series. He gave up only three goals, and made all the difference in the opener.

Then there was Barnes, who took over in goal for Sadler in last year's playoffs, but was Oak Bay put on the pressure to start off the second half, and tied the score on a shot by Bill Baker. However, from then on Sadler was unbreakable, and the Vics gradually took over the play to turn a tight game into a rout.

Barnes scored twice more, and Dave Collett got one, his second of the series after being held scoreless in league play.

PLAY ON MAINLAND

The Vics travel to the mainland for the B.C. playoff later this month. Harry Rumer's club took the title last year by default, when Vancouver's representative failed to field a team.

Cougars Try Two Ways —And Lose Both Times

Victoria Cougars tried it both ways in their first two games of their first trip to the Prairie section of the Western Hockey League but couldn't make it either time.

Last night at Saskatoon, they just missed coming from behind to win.

On Tuesday night at Winnipeg, the Cougars couldn't hold a three-goal lead with just over 10 minutes left and lost in overtime to the Warriors, 5-4.

Last night, the Cougars had to play without Gordie Hawthorne, who was injured at Winnipeg. Carl Kaiser moved up to play on a line with George Ford and Murray Wilkie, while Enio Soliszi took over for Hawthorne at forward.

CATS OUTPLAYED

Quakers outplayed the Cougars most of the way and kept Marcel Pelletier hopping as they got a goal a period to take a 3-0 lead early in the third period. The Cougars rallied strongly at the finish with Baluk scoring at 12:30, and Wilkie getting his second goal of the trip and third of the season, at 14:05. But that was as close as the Cougars could come.

Tuesday's defeat before a large Winnipeg crowd was considerably more difficult to take.

Never behind, the Cougars took a 2-1 lead into the third period as Nicholson clicked in the first period and Wilkie came through in the second. It seemed "sure" when Ted Harris, rookie defenceman, scored at 5:36 of the third period and Baluk followed with another goal at 9:12.

LETDOWN HITS

Then came the letdown. Red Johnson, scoring only his second goal of the season, made it 4-2 at 9:33. Pete Kapusta cut the lead to one goal at 10:40 and rookie George Brisson tied it up at 13:50, three goals in a little more than four minutes.

Bill Moskienko, a 37-year-old veteran playing his 15th season of professional hockey, broke it up at 8:43 of the extra period—only 77 seconds away from a tie game. It was the second goal and third point of the game for Moskienko.

Goalie Mutinies to Avoid Being 'Stuck' in Edmonton

Bears goalie, said Tuesday: "I will not report to Edmonton no matter what happens."

Business manager Baz Bastien had ordered Mayer to the Western Hockey League club for 10 days to two weeks to fill in for the injured Dennis Riggins who suffered an eye injury.

Mayer, who has allowed 14 goals in the 11 games he has shared the nets with Hershey goalie Bob Perreault, said, "If I was playing bad hockey I wouldn't care."

He said if he left the second-place American League club to go to Edmonton he might get "stuck there for the rest of the season."

"I don't want to cause trouble but I'm playing good and I want to stay here. I have my family here. What am I supposed to do?"

Totems Beaten Twice In Alberta Invasion

Seattle Totems, who ran up six and four-game winning streaks in their own division while losing only two of their first 12 games, are finding matters considerably different in the Eastern Division of the Western Hockey League.

Last night at Edmonton, the Totems took a 7-3 lacing from the Flyers. It followed a 3-1 setback in Calgary Tuesday.

On Tuesday, Stampeders checked the Totems to a standstill after conceding the first goal of the game in the first minute of the second period.

Dusty Blair got it back at 12:12 of the same period. Sid Finney got what proved to be the winner at 3:07 of the third period and Chuck Blair added an insurance goal at 5:10. Ed Dorohay set up the last two Calgary goals, the winner on a power play.

Ryff Muffs Chance for Title; Hockey Great Passes at 59

Frankie Ryff's hopes of a lightweight title bout suffered a severe jolt last night as the veteran New York fighter lost a controversial 10-round decision to young Eddie Perkins, a fast-moving Chicago youngster.

Perkins, a 21-year-old who gained his 12th victory in 16 starts, scored the only knockdown of the fight in the third round when he caught Ryff with a short right.

Ryff, fighting his second fight under the management of former champion Barney Ross, was up at the count of two and took the mandatory eight count.

BILLY BOUCHER, one of hockey's all-time greats, died Monday of a heart attack at the age of 59. Boucher played right wing on a line with two other Montreal Canadiens immortals: centre Howie Morenz and Aurel Joliat and was the Canadiens' leading scorer in the 1924 Stanley Cup series when they beat Vancouver and Calgary Tigers.

Eskimos in Final; Parker the Story As Riders Routed

EDMONTON—Jackie Parker, probably the finest football player ever to perform on a Canadian gridiron, staged a flashy exhibition of this athletic ability Tuesday in preparation for Saturday's meeting with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

His performance, a delight for Eskimo fans, turned the sunny afternoon into a day of suffering for the Saskatchewan Roughriders, who, just for the record, lost the game, 31-1, and the two-game, total-point series, 58-12.

Not only did Parker personally bring the Riders to their collective knees, the football magician from Mississippi State accomplished the act with such ridiculous ease that the game soon assumed all the aspects of a comedy.

RIDERS INET
And, taking their cue perfectly, the Roughriders turned it into a comedy of errors. Faced by a hard-charging Edmonton defence, the Roughriders, who went into the game with a 16-point deficit, were never able to get rolling. Ken Carpenter and Jack Hill, the two men who tucked in most of quarterback Frank Tripucka's passes during the regular season, were especially inept Tuesday.

With his pass-receivers having a bad day and the Riders running attack well-contained Tripucka was outpassed and outquarterbacked by Parker by a wide margin for the second straight game.

Parker's amazing ability to throw accurately while on the rug was one of the major factors in his dazzling performance and undoubtedly will be the biggest problem the Winnipeg Blue Bombers will face in the bid for a second straight crack at the Grey Cup.

TWO FOR BRIGHT
Fullback Johnny Bright crashed over for two touchdowns, running mate Normie Kwong took a Parker pass for another and import end Jim Lefevyts scored the fourth on a 68-yard pass-and-run play with Canadian quarterback Don Getty, who replaced Parker in the fourth quarter. End Joe Mobra kicked a 27-yard field goal and three converts.

Riders single point came on a 40-yard punt by Tripucka.

Ottawa Eliminates Alouettes, 26-12—Young Canadian Quarterback Is Star

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—Russ Jackson, 22-year-old Canadian quarterback who made his debut in pro football this season, confidently piloted Ottawa Rough Riders Wednesday to a smashing 26-12 win over Montreal Alouettes in the Big Four league's sudden-death semi-final.

Jackson's handling of the Riders was a brilliant exhibition of clear thinking and cool strategy against a team that had been favored to win by nine points.

Given magnificent support by a hard-charging line and slashing, driving runs by his backfielders, Jackson quickly sensed that Ottawa's route to victory lay along the ground. It was there that the game was won. The young quarterback who came up from Mc-

Master University in Hamilton ripped through for two touchdowns himself and sent Don Pinhey scotching across for another.

Mac Yoho booted field goals from 16 and 31 yards and also contributed a convert. Gary Nesbitt lofted a long punt that went for a conceded rouge.

TRAIL THROUGHOUT

The Alouettes trailed all the way, at one time in the second quarter by 12-0. They pulled to an 18-6 margin on Pat Abbruzzi's touchdown before half-time and struck for another by Joel Wells in the fourth quarter before Jackson raced over for the squelcher.

A Montreal crowd of 18,048 confidently expected the Riders for the 11th straight time on a Montreal field. The last Ottawa win here was in 1953.

Instead, they saw the Als cave in under the relentless Ottawa backfield and miss the Big Four final for the first time since 1954.

Riders now meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a two-game, total-point final series. The first game will be played in Ottawa Saturday and the second game in Hamilton Nov. 22. The winner represents the East in the Grey Cup game in Vancouver Nov. 29.

Bobby Judd, Dave Thelen and Don Pinhey were the men Jackson sent most often knifing through and around the Alouette line. There seemed little the Als could do, except stall the drive now and then and try to strike back. Two unheralded defensive ends, Ted Smale and Lou Bruce, came roaring in time and again to break up Montreal plays.

Jackson called every play for the Riders but three. One of them, sent in by messenger by coach Frank Clair, turned into a pass interception by Montreal's Jim Carr and led eventually to an Alouette touchdown.

The Riders ran up an amazing 326 yards gained along the ground against only 77 tried 27 passes and managed to complete 17 but time and again he was thrown for huge losses as Ottawa's defensive line smashed through against a weak Montreal offensive line.

Jackson tossed 15 passes and clicked with eight, using his arm just often enough to keep the Montreal defence honest when it crowded in to try and stop the fine running game displayed by Riders.

The Ottawa club was lateralizing the ball with assurance and getting good blocking.

It's the Fans Says Professor

VANCOUVER (CP)—After fans were people with "unex- watching 60 minutes of rough- pressed personalities" who and tumble football between were only half alive because the British Columbia Lions and they lacked interest and excitement in their daily existence.

Dr. Signori, professor of psychology at the University of British Columbia, calmly announced there is nothing wrong with the players; it's the spectators who have a screw loose. Dr. Signori sat quietly through the game while fans all around him shouted "kill him" and "beautiful, beautiful" as two burly Lions drove Edmonton's Jackie Parker into the ground.

The psychologist came to the conclusion that most of the he explained that they had to shout and scream at football games so that they could prove to themselves they were even half alive.

The remainder of the fans fell into seven categories, all showing definite psychological characteristics that hinted some of them are frustrated and markedly anti-social.

The fans reaction to Dr. Signori's published analysis? "He's crazy... Well, I don't know, maybe he's got something."

Packers Go Ahead In European Tour

STOCKHOLM—The touring Kelowna Packers made it two victories in three games here last night, outclassing a Swedish provincial all-star club, 5-2, before 4,700 fans, by far the smallest crowd of the three games.

It was the second straight 5-2 win for the Packers, who lost the opener by the same score, then picked up their first victory Tuesday.

Packers wind up their series here tonight, then leave Friday for five games against Russian teams in Moscow.

Yesterday's game was slowed to a walk in the final 20 minutes by soft ice and fog, but the first two periods provided some interesting hockey, with Dave Gatherum again starring in the Packer nets.

Mike Durban, Clare Wakshinski and Greg Jablonski gave Kelowna a 3-2 lead in the first period. Westerlund and Blome scored for Sweden. Durban and Tom Stecyk tallied in the second period.

On Tuesday, the Packers showed more speed and better passing in the opener, had little trouble with the Swedish players although the host club did get off to a 1-0 lead on a goal by Einar Granat.

But the Packers stormed back to score three goals within three minutes on shots by Jack Landen, Durban and Russ Kowalschuk. Hedlund scored for Sweden before the period ended. Stecyk scored in the second period and Brian Roche in the third.

More than 14,000 fans witnessed the game, including Russian coach Anatoli Tarasov. Forward Jim Middleton summed up the Packers' feelings saying "We have hit our stride and are looking forward to meeting the Russians."

NEW MEDICAL EXPENSE POLICY

Now Metropolitan Life announces a new Insurance policy — supplementing the Provincial Hospital Plan — It helps you pay bills, both in the hospital and at home, for:

- Semi-private or private room hospital accommodation
- Surgical expenses
- Maternity expenses
- Medical expenses such as physicians' charges, registered nurses' charges, and certain medical services and supplies

The cost of illness or injury in your family can be sizeable. Consider the cost today of items such as physicians' bills, surgeons' fees, special nurses — in hospital, at home, or both — special prescriptions, prosthetic appliances, and similar expenses.

Also, when a member of your family must be hospitalized, you may well require room accommodations more private than those offered.

And so, Metropolitan has designed a NEW POLICY to supplement the benefits available to you under the Provincial Hospital Plan.

It is available to you either as an individual or as a family head, including wife and children, at a cost within the average budget.

Now is the time to review your Medical Care coverage. See if it meets the needs of you and your family. Sound advice by an insurance expert can help tailor a plan suitable to those needs.

Your Metropolitan Representative is such a person. He has been carefully trained in the analysis of insurance needs — and he is interested in helping you get the most coverage for your money. Call him today through the local office below.

Secret Talks Under Way

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The top foreign affairs spokesmen for Canada and the United States have been meeting privately, behind the scenes at the Columbia House conference, discussing Canadian trade proposals in a secret place with a goal of finding a way to break the deadlock in the trade talks.

Canada and the U.S. already have been at odds in this sphere. Canada has protested the U.S. "gateway" program for disposal of its surplus, particularly when it comes to the disposal of surplus wheat. Canada has also protested the U.S. "gateway" program for disposal of its surplus wheat.

Press Guesses Prince's Future

'Stiff Upper Lip' Type

The Prince of Wales, who is expected to become the Duke of Edinburgh, is being described by the press as a "stiff upper lip" type. This is a reference to his famous composure and reserve, which have been noted since his childhood. The press has been speculating about his future role and the challenges he will face as he prepares to take on the duties of a monarch.

Phone Service Broken

Telephone service in the city of Victoria was again interrupted today by a power outage. The outage occurred at approximately 10:30 a.m. and lasted for about 15 minutes. The cause of the outage was a fault in the power lines. The telephone company is working to prevent such outages in the future.

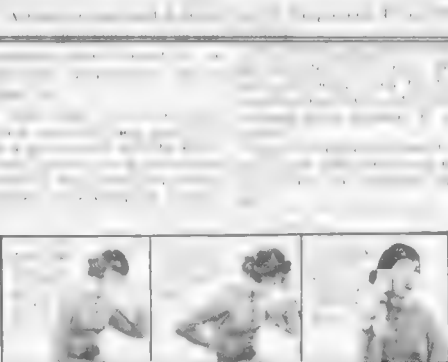

Bridge Redecking Begins

Victoria West Centre Folds

The Victoria West Centre, a community center for the elderly, has folded due to financial difficulties. The center, which was founded in 1954, had been operating for several years before its closure. The closure was announced by the board of directors, who stated that the center had been unable to secure the necessary funds to continue its operations.

Face-Lift Set For City Bank

The City Bank is set to undergo a face-lift procedure, which will involve the removal of the building's facade and the construction of a new one. The project is expected to be completed by the end of the year. The new facade will be more modern and will better reflect the bank's image.

A Warning about Foreign Attachments to Telephones

Telephone subscribers are reminded that the use of telephone attachments unauthorized by the Telephone Company is contrary to regulations governing telephone service. This is pointed out because from time to time certain devices of this kind appear on the market and are offered for sale or for rent to telephone users.

The regulation applying to "non-approved devices" follows:

The Company's equipment and wiring shall not be re-arranged, disconnected, removed, or otherwise interfered with, nor shall any equipment, apparatus, or device be connected with the Company's equipment or wiring in any way, whether physically, electrically, or otherwise, except where specified in the Tariffs of the Company or by special agreement. In the event of a breach of this Rule, the Company may, without notice, suspend or terminate the service as provided in Rule 35.

This regulation is, of course, in the interests of good telephone service and, therefore, for the protection of telephone subscribers generally. Some attachments to telephones can impair service. And interference with service on one telephone does not stop with that instrument. Others are bound to be affected.

That's why telephone regulations prohibit telephone attachments without the written consent of the Telephone Company.

Save-a-Wife Week

NEW YORK (WNS)—It's National Save-A-Wife Week, from November 13 to November 22. From time immemorial men have been singing the little woman's praises. Witness:

An old gypsy proverb: "A man without a wife is like a bird with only one wing."

Columnist Earl Wilson: "It's impossible for a woman to be married to the same man for 50 years. After the first 25, he's not the same man."

Author Joyce Cary: "When it comes to a wife, there's nothing like a woman."

HOW TO Glaze a Ham with ROGERS' GOLDEN SYRUP***

ROGERS' GOLDEN SYRUP
B.C. SUGAR REFINERY

Score hot ham with a sharp knife in a diamond pattern. Make lines straight and to bottom of the fat, about an inch apart.

Decorate by inserting cloves in some diamonds. In others use toothpicks to peg on cherries and pineapple chunks. Glaze goes over all.

The glaze—just drizzle Rogers' Golden Syrup straight from the can and bake for 30 minutes. Makes the shiniest possible glaze.

*The quick energy food that's good so many ways

For tested recipes with Rogers' Golden Syrup, write to the British Columbia Sugar Refining Company, Vancouver, B.C., for their free recipe book.

PERFECT YOUR BABY'S FOOD

Prepared and Fresh-Packed in the Niagara District

Your baby's nourishment is our first concern. That's why Gerber maintains Experimental Agricultural Research Plots. These trial plots of carrots, squash, peas, etc. are planted periodically to study the nutritive possibilities of new varieties, and improve the nutritive values of established varieties. As a consequence, Gerber specialists have developed many vegetable varieties which are nutritionally superior.

Specialized research of this kind is typical of the care Gerber takes to insure fine quality foods for your baby. For when it comes to babies... mothers and Gerber agree, it's quality first.
